NORSE POWER

NEW DRAMA

Vikings: Valhalla

From Friday 25 Feb, Netflix

We've been thirsting for more Norse adventures ever since Vikings came to an end after six seasons in 2020 – and now the team who brought us the gripping historical drama are back with a brand-new saga.

Set in the early 11th century – more than 100 years after the events of the original show – eight-part sequel Vikings: Valhalla takes place at a time when tensions between the Vikings and England's Royal Family are reaching a blood-soaked breaking point.

It was a period when some of the most famous Vikings who ever lived – such as legendary explorer Leif Eriksson, who hailed from Greenland – were carving out names for themselves that would echo down the centuries.

'It was a tumultuous era,' says Australian actor Sam Corlett, who plays Eriksson. 'In the series, the Vikings are at war with the English, but we also see them clashing with each other over religion. By this time, many of them had converted to Christianity, bringing them into conflict with their pagan brothers and sisters. That's a major part of the series – these years proved to be a last stand for the old Viking way of life.'

The first episode opens with King Aethelred II of England vowing to rid his country of Vikings by slaughtering the ancestors of those who settled after arriving from Scandinavia.

When King Canute of Denmark hears of the massacre, he hatches a plan to travel to England and take his revenge. But as he builds his army in the coastal town of Kattegat, Eriksson, his fiery sister Freydis Eriksdotter (The Witcher's Frida Gustavsson) and their fellow Greenlanders arrive…

Leif Eriksson
Sam Corlett
The Greenlander has been raised on the outer edges of the known world, and comes from a tight-knit family steeped in pagan beliefs.

'Freydis was raped by a Christian Viking and she's determined to get justice,' explains Corlett. 'Getting revenge for his sister is also what drives Leif on at the start, but as the story continues, he focuses on emerging from the shadow of his father, Erik the Red, who's famous all over the Viking world.'

CLASSIC INSPIRATION

As a big fan of classic westerns, 26-year-old Corlett says he drew inspiration for his role from the likes of The Good, the Bad and the Ugly, and Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid.

'We see this world through Leif's eyes, so we talked at length about how I should play the role,' he explains. 'I was really inspired by those laconic characters from film history played by Clint Eastwood and Robert Redford.'

Another man who's eager to settle an old score is ambitious Nordic prince Harald Sigurdsson (Sanditon's Leo Suter), whose brother was one of the many Vikings slaughtered by King Aethelred. He soon begins a romance with Eriksdotter and when she kills the Viking who raped her, Sigurdsson persuades King Canute to spare her life, as long as Eriksson joins his army as they set sail for England to lay siege to London.

Leo Suter as Sigurdsson

Setting sail: Eriksson and Sigurdsson

Vikings: Valhalla promises some stunning fight scenes, especially as Die Hard's Jeb Stuart is the series showrunner. And Corlett hopes viewers will enjoy the sequel just as much as the original series.

'I loved Vikings and used to watch it with my dad all the time,' he smiles. 'It's a real honour to be stepping into this world and we wanted to preserve the spirit of that show. Most of the people who made the first show are involved again, but I think we've stepped up the pace and the action this time round.'

A second season of the spectacular saga has already been made, while filming is due to begin on a third season in Ireland later this year.

History buffs will know that Harald Sigurdsson went on to become Harald Hardrada, the Norwegian king who clashed with the English at the Battle of Stamford Bridge in 1066.

'We're working on storylines for the third season at the moment,' says Corlett. 'We've used a bit of dramatic licence because Leif and Harald didn't actually live at the same time, but their story arcs really complement each other and it means we can explore the epic things they both did. It's going to be an exciting ride.'

Comedian Sir Billy Connolly reflects on some of the wilder moments from his 50-year stand-up career

NEW FACTUAL

Billy Connolly Does...
Thursday, Gold HD, 9pm

He's older and wiser, but Sir Billy Connolly hasn't lost his knack for recounting hilarious anecdotes about his wild days. And there are plenty to enjoy in the seven-part series Billy Connolly Does…, in which the 79-year-old reflects on his eventful life and the highlights of his 50-year stand-up career from his home in Florida.

Mixing archive footage with new interviews, the series kicks off with an episode themed around bad behaviour – and there's no shortage of material to draw on.

Here, the Big Yin shares some tales of wine, women and song…

WHEN IN ROME...

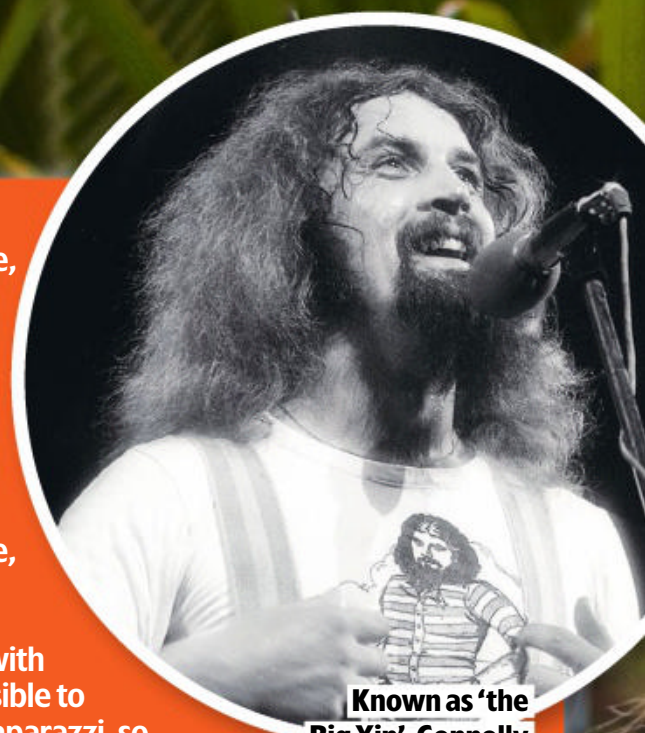
During many tours of Canada, America and Australia over the years, Connolly and his crew found ingenious ways to alleviate the boredom. 'You're living in the lap of luxury, but at some point you just go: "This needs to be shaken, not stirred!" And you do something naughty,' he laughs.

One particular game he enjoyed was called Changes. 'You're all checking in to the hotel, and somebody says, "Changes!"' he says. 'You have to go to your room and reappear in the bar, dressed only in stuff you find there – bedsheets, tablecloths and pillow cases. Suddenly the bar's full of Romans!'

PUNCHLINES

Because of his imposing physique, people often assume Connolly is a hardman. But while that's not the case, he admits he has let his fists do the talking on a couple of occasions, once when dealing with a heckler, and once with a member of the paparazzi.

'I was in the middle of a divorce, my children and my wife were in Scotland, and I was with Pam in London,' he recalls of his run-in with the photographer. 'It was impossible to stay sane, being chased by the paparazzi, so I lashed out. And it's always a huge mistake hitting them. They love it, as the rest of them are taking pictures of you doing it. You can't win.'



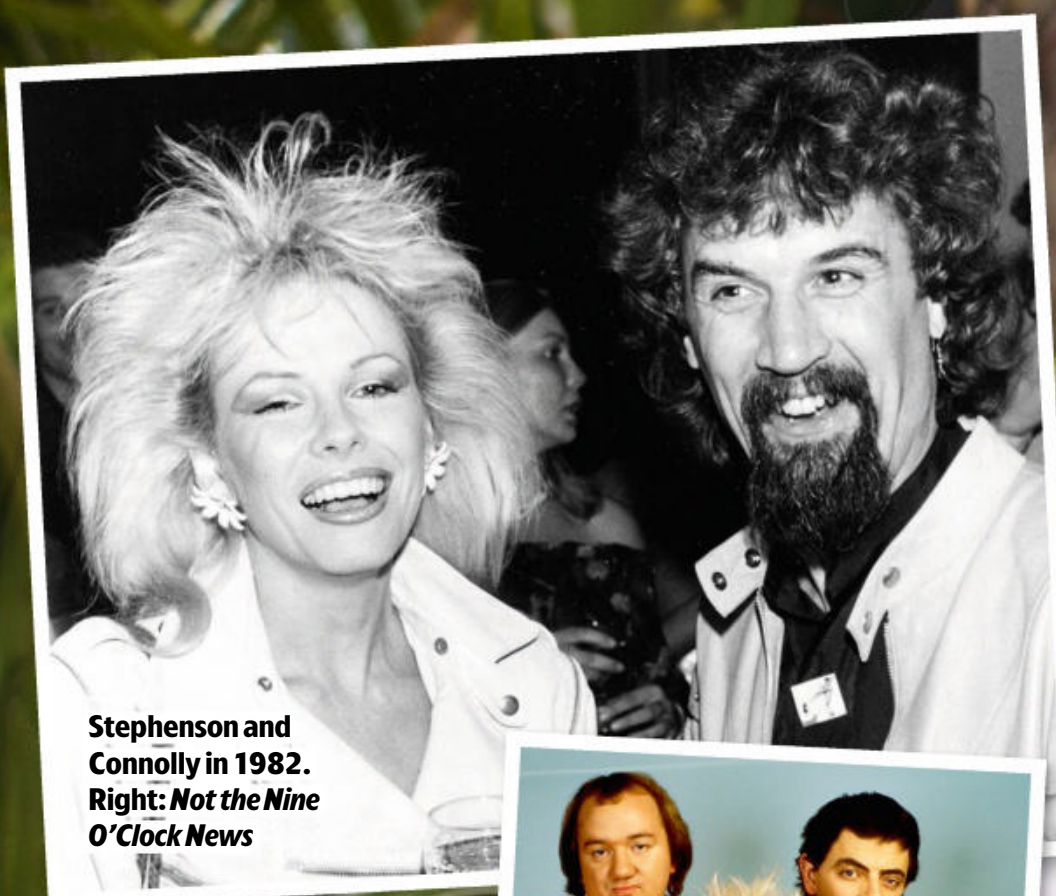
Known as 'the Big Yin', Connolly gained a tough reputation

DOUBLE TROUBLE

Before he became the rock superstar who recorded Baker Street, Gerry Rafferty was in a band with Connolly called The Humblebums. And while Rafferty would become famous for his melancholy songs of love and loss, Connolly remembers his great sense of fun.

'Gerry was a scream,' he grins. 'He used to have me on the floor, on my hands and knees!'

On one memorable night, the pair were being driven back from a gig in a car with a loudspeaker system, and Rafferty grabbed the mic. 'A truck bearing a load of poisonous snakes has crashed,' he announced to shocked locals. 'Leave your house and assemble on the steps of the town hall!'



Stephenson and Connolly in 1982. Right: Not the Nine O'Clock News

BRIGHTON BELLE

Connolly first met Kiwi comedian Pamela Stephenson, who became his second wife, while appearing as a guest on sketch show Not the Nine O'Clock News in 1979. Later that year, she came to see him perform in Brighton, where their romantic relationship began in rather unusual fashion. 'We were in the hotel, and I had about 20 brandies lined up,' he recalls. 'Pamela said, "I'm going to bed," and I said, "Please yourself!"' Some time later, a staff member told Connolly he had a phone call. It was from Pamela, who said: 'I'm in your room. I'm in bed. It's time you came up.' Connolly smiles: 'And that was the beginning of it!'

DRUNKEN HISTORY

When Connolly became teetotal in 1985 after decades of booze-fuelled adventure, he was worried that life might not be as much fun without alcohol. 'I thought I might lose my wildness,' he says, 'and then I thought, "Well, it's not wildness. It's pretend-y wildness. You know how to turn it on, and that won't go away." And it didn't go away.'

For anyone who's considering following suit, he has some words of encouragement. 'People worry that if they give up drinking, their life force will go away, but it doesn't,' he says. 'It's a passenger, the drink. It slows you down.'

Jimmy Akingbola takes on the role of one of TV's most famous butlers

DRAMA

Bel-Air

From Mon 21 Feb, Peacock on Sky

We've seen him as a dedicated cop in The Tower, an asylum-seeking doctor alongside Brenda Blethyn in Kate & Koji and villain Baron Reiter in superhero drama Arrow.

Now, British actor Jimmy Akingbola is on our screens in US drama Bel-Air, the gritty reboot of 1990s sitcom The Fresh Prince of Bel-Air, with episode four available on Peacock on Sky this week.

The 43-year-old stars as Geoffrey Thompson, the English 'house manager' for the wealthy Banks family, who take troubled nephew Will (Jabari Banks) under their wing in a mansion in LA when he has to leave Philadelphia.

We caught up with Akingbola to hear more about the show…

Were you a fan of the original sitcom? Definitely. Dinner time was always Home and Away, Neighbours, then Fresh Prince. There is something iconic about it. We all grew up with it, no matter what country you're from. So to get a part in it and play this legendary British character, Geoffrey, is fantastic.

Did you speak to British actor Joseph Marcell, who played the original butler, Geoffrey? I worked with Joseph in an episode of Death in Paradise. He's a legend. When I told him I'd got the role, he was so happy for me and told me to enjoy every minute. My version of Geoffrey is from east London like me – he's streetwise.

This series is a drama and is much edgier than the original comedy. Do you think it will appeal to a new generation? It's exciting because it's hour-long episodes, which means we can really peel back the layers of each character. There are lots of respectful nods to the original. If you loved that, you'll love this.

How have you found working in Los Angeles, where it's filmed? I've been living in LA for five years. I wake up, go to Universal Studios, walk past the set of Jaws and all these iconic Hollywood movies, and see Ted Danson being driven round the corner. I have to pinch myself. I do miss my friends and family. That chimes with Geoffrey as he's a fish out of water and I can relate to that. I'm the Brit in LA with a lot still to learn.

Fun and GAMES

NEW ENTERTAINMENT

Ant & Dec's Saturday Night Takeaway

Saturday, ITV HD, 7pm

Get ready for some outrageous stunts, celebrity pranks and plenty of live surprises as Ant & Dec's Saturday Night Takeaway bursts back on to our screens.

TV's most popular duo, now hosting their 18th series of Takeaway, will be introducing new studio games as well as bringing back old favourites such as Win the Ads and On Air Dares.

Here, Ant McPartlin and Declan Donnelly, both 46, tell TV&Satellite Week about their celebrity guests, exciting new additions to the show, and reveal why they're paranoid they'll be pranked themselves…

For the past two years, you've had to adapt the show because of COVID-19 protocols. Is the live studio audience back this time?

McPARTLIN Yes! Hallelujah! Takeaway is all about the audience, whether that's the audience at home or in the studio. We're over the moon and can't wait to have fun with them.

DONNELLY We've really missed having people around, so we're looking forward to welcoming them back.

Will all of the trusty Takeaway team be returning?

DONNELLY Yes, Stephen Mulhern will be hosting Ant vs Dec. We can't quite shake him off! Andi Peters is back to run our viewer competitions and we have given Fleur East a new assignment. She'll be going up and down the country getting viewers involved.

You really love involving unsuspecting members of the public, don't you?

DONNELLY In years gone by, we've hijacked a coffee drive-through and photo booths. This year, we took over the security checkpoints at London's O2 – the bag scans, the face recognition, the body scanners – and messed with the public while they're trying to get into the venue… much to their frustration!

Which famous faces will you be pranking this time round?

McPARTLIN We did an Undercover on Jeremy Clarkson at his farm. You may have read about that in the press.

DONNELLY We can neither confirm nor deny if those stories were about us… but they were! So stay tuned…

Do you think any celebs you've tricked over the years may be gunning for revenge?

McPARTLIN We always worry about that. We thought for a while that Gordon Ramsay would get his revenge. He was very angry when we pranked him over in LA. Whenever we're in a taxi and they take a wrong turn, or we're in the studio and weird things happen, we immediately think it's an Undercover on us.

DONNELLY Even in a restaurant when the waiter spills a drink, we think to ourselves, 'Hang on, is this an Undercover?' We're in constant fear. We always look around and check for hidden cameras.

Which celebrities would you love to have on Takeaway?

McPARTLIN We would both love to get Elton John on to sing Saturday Night's Alright for Fighting. He's definitely on our wish list.

ON THE MENU The boys reveal what else is new

LEVEL UP

'We filmed this in a lift with unsuspecting members of the public. They didn't know they were playing a game show until they got in and the lift started speaking to them,' says McPartlin.

'There's a different game on every floor. You can cash out on any level or keep playing to win the top prize,' adds Donnelly. 'If you make it all the way up, we're waiting on the top floor with the jackpot – a suitcase of money.'

RING MY BELL

'We're really excited about this one,' says McPartlin. 'We will be tapping into video doorbells around the country and having lots of fun.'

'And we've got a game called Kiddi-eoke that we're really looking forward to,' adds Donnelly. 'We love having a laugh with kids. We've done the talking pandas the past couple of years, which was so much fun and people loved it.'

THE POLTER GUYS
The pair will be flexing their acting muscles when they take part in another mini-serial packed with a host of famous faces. 'It's a homage to Ghostbusters called The Polter Guys,' explains McPartlin. 'Dec has sold his soul to the devil in return for Ant and Dec's television success.'

'We have guest appearances from Jo Brand, Omid Djalili, Roman Kemp, Fred Sirieix, Tom Allen and Sally Phillips,' adds Donnelly. 'It's a cameo-fest. Rob Delaney plays the devil and he's devilishly good.'

Alan Tudyk stars as Harry, who has disguised his true form (below)

Harry the alien is marooned on Earth as Resident Alien returns...

NEW SCI-FI

Resident Alien

Thursday, Sky Max HD & Sky Showcase HD, 9pm

Season one of the US sci-fi comedy saw Alan Tudyk play an alien who crash-lands in the small town of Patience, Colorado, while trying to exterminate the human race.

After killing a doctor, Harry Vanderspeigle, who was on vacation, and then taking on his identity, the new Harry did his best to blend into society while trying to get back to his own planet.

As the series returns, the action picks up with Harry back in Patience and being treated for amnesia after his spaceship crashes again while he's heading home with young stowaway Max (Judah Prehn), who has a genetic mutation that allows him to see Harry's true form.

'Finding Max in his ship was incredibly frustrating for two reasons,' says creator Chris Sheridan. 'One is because Harry wanted to go home, but also because he has to realise that – even if he doesn't want to acknowledge it – he's human enough to not have just tossed Max out into space. Now he's stuck here and he blames Max for it.'

Harry with stowaway Max (Judah Prehn)

KILLER INTENT

Meanwhile, local law enforcers Sheriff Mike and Deputy Liv (Corey Reynolds and Elizabeth Bowen) have growing suspicions about alien Harry after it was revealed that human Harry had murdered local town doctor Sam Hodges.

Even worse, with Harry failing in his mission to destroy Earth, his alien race looks set to send another spaceship to carry out the deadly task.

'In this season, the world starts to come to Patience,' reveals Tudyk. 'And it's not just the world – it's the universe.'

FACE TO FACE

The series is based on a hugely popular comic book, and the Texas-born actor, 50, says he is looking forward to meeting Resident Alien obsessives in person as fan conventions begin returning across the US.

> 'Harry wanted to go home, but now he's stuck here'
> CHRIS SHERIDAN

'This show came out during COVID days, and I haven't met this new group of fans yet,' he says. 'One of the great things about conventions is that people bring you artwork inspired by your work, and you meet people who become friends. It's the best thing about making a show like this. I can't wait!'

Great Escapes with Morgan Freeman

NEW Wed, Sky History HD, 10pm

The Hollywood legend began acting in the 1960s but only hit the big time in the late 1980s with his role in 1987 film Street Smart (left), for which he received the first of five Oscar nominations. Driving Miss Daisy and Glory (both 1990) were followed by acclaimed performances in Unforgiven (1992), The Shawshank Redemption (1995) and Seven (1996). He won a Best Supporting Actor Oscar as a boxing trainer in Million Dollar Baby (2005).

HIS NEW SHOW

In his new series, Freeman, 84, pays homage to The Shawshank Redemption by recalling some of the most-famous real-life jailbreaks in history. Among the stories are the World War Two 'great escape' from Stalag Luft III POW camp and the UK's biggest ever jailbreak when 38 IRA prisoners broke out of the Maze in 1983. 'It's an entertaining series,' says Freeman. 'You really get caught up in the stories'.

Blast from the past

Commissioner Selwyn Patterson is surprised by an unexpected reunion in the Death in Paradise finale...

LAST ONE CRIME DRAMA

Death in Paradise

Friday, BBC1 HD, 9pm

Detective Inspectors may come and go, but Commissioner Selwyn Patterson (Don Warrington) is the great constant of the Saint Marie police force – and he can always be relied upon to lend a professional, if occasionally irritable, perspective on the team's latest case.

However, as the latest series of Death in Paradise comes to a close, the Commissioner's usual objectivity may be jeopardised due to his involvement with a key figure in a murder investigation.

Saint Marie is hosting a highly publicised chess tournament between Julius Rotfeld (David Sibley), a former grandmaster who has been living as a recluse for 35 years, and rising star Lucas Magnussen (Anders Hayward). But the match ends tragically when Rotfeld collapses and dies at the table after being poisoned.

As DI Neville Parker (Ralf Little) and his team investigate the murder, the Commissioner learns that journalist Maggie Harper (Orla Brady) is in town to cover the event, and it's clear that the two know each other of old…

Commissioner Patterson and DI Parker

'It's interesting, because Selwyn has a past,' says Warrington. 'He's always been, for one reason or another, a mystery man. Nobody knows what his home life is like. Nobody knows what his personal relationships are. In this series, we learn a little more about Selwyn – we see a more human side.'

ORIGINAL

Since its first series in 2011, Death in Paradise has been a regular ratings winner for BBC1, and Warrington is one of just two remaining original cast members, along with Élizabeth Bourgine, who plays bar owner and Saint Marie mayor Catherine Bordey.

But while he has over 10 years of filming in Guadeloupe under his belt, there is still one thing he hasn't managed to adjust to – the oppressive heat.

'It was particularly hot this year, especially in my uniform,' says Warrington, 70. 'I don't think you can get used to this heat. It's a glorious shock when you arrive – the first time you walk off the plane and feel that warm air is wonderful. But after three hours in the police station, it's a lot!'

NEW COMEDY DRAMA

Frayed

Wednesday, Sky Max HD & Sky Showcase HD, 10pm

The first season of comedian Sarah Kendall's 1980s-set comedy drama Frayed saw Sammy Cooper (Kendall) forced to give up her luxurious London life after her husband's sudden death left her penniless.

Returning to her home town of Newcastle in Australia, Sammy was desperate to get her old life back. But after her teenage son Lenny shot and killed a violent neighbour during an altercation, season two opens with Sammy and her children in England again – although not in the way she'd hoped. The family are hiding in a filthy flat while Sammy tries to make ends meet working as a secretary at a motor-exhaust repair shop.

Commissioner Patterson (Don Warrington) and Maggie Harper (Orla Brady)

Julius Rotfeld faces Lucas Magnussen

'Sammy's pretty much got away with disposing of the body,' says Kendall, 45. 'The case is still rolling back in Australia, but the cops just can't seem to nail anything down.'

However, being back in London means Sammy is better placed to fight shady lawyer Rufus (Robert Webb), who manipulated her into signing over her home. All she needs to do is persuade legal-aid lawyer Hannah (Gemma Whelan) to take on her case.

'I had seen Gemma years ago on the circuit,' says Kendall. 'It's like an amazing musician playing a piece of music that you've written.'

GANGS of Dublin

Charlie Cox is an ex-convict caught up in a violent turf war

SUNDANCE NOW

Kin

NEW Genre: Drama Available: Thu 24 Feb Season: 1 Episodes: 8 Runs: 50min TVSW says: Thrilling saga

After his role as Daredevil in the superhero series of the same name, Charlie Cox is back on our screens this week as Michael Kinsella, an Irishman who finds himself in the middle of a bloody gangland battle in Dublin when he's released from prison after eight years inside.

Michael's criminal family are involved in a turf war with a rival gang, and when a deadly incident tears the close-knit Kinsellas apart, they are hell-bent on revenge – even though they are outnumbered and outgunned.

After his release, Michael seems like a changed man, devoted to seeing his daughter, Anna, but will he stay on the straight and narrow, or will he resort to the violence of his past?

The cast includes Emmett J Scanlan as Michael's brother, Jimmy, and Aidan Gillen as their father, Frank, while Ciarán Hinds plays Eamon Cunningham, leader of the rival gang.

Here, Cox, 39, tells us more...

Michael with his cousin Eric (Sam Keeley), and his aunt Bridget (Maria Doyle Kennedy)

What appealed to you about playing the role of Michael? It was an opportunity to play someone who's broken and damaged. He's so vulnerable at the beginning that you root for him and hope that he succeeds. But you also can't help but feel that the person he was in the past is very, very different from him now. Hopefully you get a glimpse into the kind of violence and aggression that was his daily life not so long ago.

How does Michael fit back in with his family? The family members assume he's going to slot back in where he left off – that is normally what happens. But they are surprised and worried to learn that he doesn't really want to, and he might not be capable of it anyway. That upsets the whole family dynamic. What drives the narrative is that he is not the Michael they remember.

Did you enjoy exploring Michael's relationship with his daughter? It's the first time I've been given the opportunity to play a father. I am a father myself, so it was nice to bring my experiences of that to the screen. The idea of being close to your child and then being separated from them is about as painful and traumatic as I can imagine.

You're not Irish, so how did it feel being surrounded by so many great Irish actors? I was very nervous from the get-go because it's a very Irish show. But I hope that I've done enough in terms of the portrayal and the accent to convince viewers.

How did you get on with Emmett J Scanlan, who plays Michael's brother? We lived in an apartment together during filming, so we ended up bonding very early on. We used to play pool over and over, and we got very competitive. I read an interview that Emmett did the other day where he claimed he won most games – and I can't emphasise enough what a massive lie that is. He's a tremendous actor, but he's also a liar!

The Alexandrians are back to face new threats – from zombies and humans alike

Maggie (Lauren Cohan)

Negan (Jeffrey Dean Morgan)

Disney+ STAR The Walking Dead

NEW Genre: Horror drama Available: Mon 21 Feb Season: 11 (part two) Episodes: 8 (released weekly) TVSW says: Still packs a punch

The stakes are higher than ever before as long-running zombie drama The Walking Dead returns this week for a block of eight new episodes – as we build towards the end of the series later this year.

The action picks up from a string of cliffhangers that saw the Alexandria survivors struggling to keep a horde of walkers at bay during a violent storm, while Daryl (Norman Reedus) battled his former lover Leah (Lynn Collins), and her band of Reapers after Leah stabbed their leader, Pope, to death and assumed his mantle.

'Leah is at her most dangerous now. She has lost everyone and she blames herself,' reveals Collins. 'Right now, she feels that she has been betrayed twice by Daryl. She has no allegiance, no one to protect. It is wild woman time. There is nothing more terrifying than a woman who has nothing to lose.'

A relative newcomer to the show, Collins has moved to the town of Senoia, Georgia, where the drama is filmed. And she admits it can be an odd place to raise a family

'Senoia has become a tourist attraction,' she says. 'Fans come along dressed as zombies and they walk around looking super-gory. My son is seven years old and finds them scary but cool at the same time. He understands the zombies are fake, but it's definitely something I am navigating as a parent!'

CLASS DIVISIONS

The new episodes also pick up the action as some of the other Alexandrians join Eugene, Princess, Ezekiel and Yumiko in the Commonwealth. But it doesn't take long before we glimpse a more sinister side to the seemingly perfect community.

'Some of our characters are already there, and when others decide to join them, this nice community crumbles in front of them,' reveals British actor Eleanor Matsuura, who plays Yumiko.

'The Commonwealth is very much like the old world where people are divided and ranked in terms of status. We have never seen that in the show before, because everyone became equal when the apocalypse happened. It was just about surviving – it didn't matter where you were from.

'Now the class system has come back into play again. Will our characters be forced back into their old ways, or will they make a decision that humanity is better than that?'

Kate Garraway on husband Derek Draper's path back from life-threatening COVID-19

NEW FACTUAL

Kate Garraway: Caring for Derek

Tuesday, ITV HD, 9pm

Last year, Good Morning Britain presenter Kate Garraway's emotional and National Television Award-winning documentary, Finding Derek, followed the plight of her very sick husband, Derek Draper, and saw Garraway navigate a huge period of uncertainty.

Psychologist and former political adviser Draper was left battling for his life in intensive care when he became critically ill with coronavirus in March 2020, and spent 13 months in hospital, where he was placed in an induced coma.

HOMECOMING

In April 2021, after 374 days in hospital, Draper was finally able to go home.

Now, in this follow-up film, Caring for Derek, cameras follow mum-of-two Garraway as her husband makes his long-awaited return to the family home in London.

The documentary opens with Draper, who is in a wheelchair and has difficulty speaking, being welcomed home by their two children, Darcey and Billy.

protective of people seeing him vulnerable,' says Garraway. 'But I've talked to him a lot about filming this, and I think he understands we have to make it real, because this is the reality of recovering from a life-changing event, and it's not pretty.'

Draper needs round-the-clock care from a team of medical staff, and the film explores the complexities of relying on the social-care system.

MICROCOSM

'We have a very busy home with lots of experts coming in and out,' says the broadcaster, 54, who spent thousands of pounds adapting the ground floor of their house to make it possible for her husband to return. 'What we're going through reflects a whole group of people – not just people like Derek with COVID, but all sorts of long-term illnesses that families are living with and the effect it has on family life.'

Garraway's 2021 film won an NTA

Garraway meets her friend Julie Laviniere, whose husband, 57-year-old DJ Steve, suffered multiple organ failure and brain damage after contracting the virus, to find out how Laviniere is coping and how her husband is progressing. She also confronts Government ministers as she attempts to navigate social care.

'COVID has devastated Derek, from the top of his head to the tip of his toes – his digestive system, his liver, his heart, his nervous system,' Garraway told Piers Morgan on Life Stories last December. 'Fundamentally he is in a terrible state, but look, he's alive.'

Garraway, who herself took over as host of Life Stories this year, says she holds on to the positives: 'There have been moments when Derek will turn to me and say, "I love you." He is there. He's fought so hard to stay in this world, and I'm not giving up on him, ever.'

NEW CRIME

Yorkshire Ripper: The Secret Murders

Wed & Thu, ITV HD, 9pm

Serial killer Peter Sutcliffe, dubbed the Yorkshire Ripper by the press, was convicted of murdering 13 women between 1975 and 1980, in a reign of terror that chills the blood to this day.

Now, a new ITV documentary, shown over two nights this week, explores how Sutcliffe might be linked to more than 20 unsolved murders that match his methods, including the killing of 20-year-old Carol Wilkinson.

In 1977, before Sutcliffe was arrested, Wilkinson was living on the Ravenscliffe estate in Bradford, where the serial killer was known to visit. She had been walking to work when she was attacked, and was later found in a pool of blood with her skull fractured in 17 places.

KNOCK-BACK

But detectives investigating at the time ruled out the Ripper as Wilkinson's killer.

'Sutcliffe had asked to go out with Carol and was rebuffed,' says Tim Tate, co-author of Yorkshire Ripper: The Secret Murders. 'He had been seen hanging round on the estate and been reported to the police for loitering.

Anthony Steel with Peter Hill, who campaigned against Steel's conviction

'But the police refused to accept Carol was a Ripper victim on the grounds she'd been hit by a stone. In their mind, he only used a hammer.'

Eighteen months later, a local man, Anthony Steel, was convicted of Wilkinson's murder, despite there being no forensic evidence linking him to the crime. He spent 20 years in prison before his conviction was quashed.

UNRESOLVED

To this day, nobody has been charged with killing Wilkinson and Sutcliffe didn't confess to her murder before he died in 2020. But was she one of his victims?

'Carol Wilkinson's murder should have been considered as a potential Yorkshire Ripper killing,' says Tate. 'He should have been a prime suspect. Instead, the link wasn't made and he was able to go on and commit more murders.'

The Desperate Hour

PREMIERE OF THE WEEK

'School run' takes on an urgent new meaning for Naomi Watts...

THRILLER

Friday, Sky Premiere HD, 3.20am, 11.10am, 8pm & 5.05am ★★★★

If Phillip Noyce's thriller was playing in cinemas, it would be one of those films you'd expect to, ahem, run and run.

It comes from the pen of Chris Sparling, who previously wrote 2010's Buried, where Ryan Reynolds was trapped in a coffin for the whole movie. This time it's Naomi Watts who is on her lonesome. She plays Amy, a widowed mother who is still grieving the loss of her husband a year on.

After she goes for her morning jog, deep into the woods, Amy's mobile phone suddenly blows up – there's been a shooting at her teen son Noah's school. Too late to turn home, she desperately starts using her smartphone to track the news and help get her as quickly as possible to the incident. Director Noyce (Dead Calm, Patriot Games, Salt) is an expert in the language of thrillers, and The Desperate Hour (formerly known as Lakewood) has an urgency and intensity to it as Watts does the hard yards.

While it's perhaps questionable to make a thriller set around school shooting, Noyce and Watts convincingly wring every ounce of tension out of the scenario. Naturally, you'll be wondering how on earth her battery survives for so long, but minor realism gripes aside, this will keep your blood pumping. JM 2021, 12, 84MIN

A familiar supporting player, Tim Blake Nelson (Watchmen, O Brother, Where Art Thou?) takes centre stage and turns in a career landmark performance in this simple but brilliantly effective Western. He plays Henry, a lonely Oklahoma pig farmer who, along with his son Wyatt (Gavin Lewis), takes in an injured man (Scott Haze) who's carrying a satchel of cash, only to face a posse led by supposed lawman Ketchum (Stephen Dorff). Tensions steadily escalate as writer-director Potsy Ponciroli builds towards a climactic showdown, with engrossing performances and a cleverly executed twist making for a highly satisfying watch. MLo 2021, 15, 99MIN

Nightcrawler

AMC HD, 11pm ★★★★

Sex ●●● Violence ●●● Language ●●●

Part scathing media satire, part scorching crime thriller, this gripping film stars Jake Gyllenhaal as a misfit ruthlessly carving a career as a freelance TV cameraman, prowling night-time LA and shooting grisly scoops for sensation-hungry TV stations. Gyllenhaal is sensational and gets super support from Rene Russo, as a cynical TV news editor who buys his stories, and Riz Ahmed, as a homeless man he hires as his assistant. 2014, 15, 117MIN

Baby Driver

Sky Thriller HD, 8pm ★★★★

Sex ●●● Violence ●●● Language ●●●

The high-octane delights in director Edgar Wright's va-va-vroom thriller include a charismatic hero, brilliantly choreographed action and a soundtrack so hot it leaves scorch marks. Working for Atlanta crime kingpin Doc (Kevin Spacey), Baby (Ansel Elgort) is a gifted getaway driver, but he wants to quit the business, especially when he falls for sweet diner waitress Debora (Lily James). First, though, he's forced to pull one last job with Jon Hamm, Jamie Foxx and Eiza Gonzalez… 2017, 15, 113MIN

The Oxford Murders

Sky Mystery HD, 6.45am & 1.05am ★★★

Sex ●●● Violence ●●● Language ●●●

A stylish campus whodunnit starring Elijah Wood as a naive American exchange student who joins forces with a brainiac Oxford don (John Hurt) after his elderly landlady (Anna Massey) is murdered. As the bodies mount up, the killer taunts the amateur sleuths with a string of cryptic clues, while there's no shortage of potential suspects to keep them busy in this hugely enjoyable murder mystery. 2008, 15, 108MIN

THRILLER

Internal Affairs

BBC1 HD, 11.55pm (12.25am Scot, not NI) ★★★★

Sex ●●● Violence ●●● Language ●●●

Richard Gere is so good as the monstrously corrupt cop at the heart of this crime thriller that you wish he played villains more often. Andy Garcia is also at his best as the newcomer to Internal Affairs who becomes obsessed with Gere's dodgy activities. With scalding film-making style, British director Mike Figgis turns this from just an action film into a thriller with intelligence and dramatic power. 1990, 18, 117MIN

COMEDY

The Boss

C4 HD, 12.35am ★★★

Sex ●●● Violence ●●● Language ●●●

Melissa McCarthy's ruthless boss wants to rebuild her business empire after a spell in jail for insider trading. Seeing an opportunity in her former personal assistant Kristen Bell's homemade brownies, she recruits girl scouts (including Bell's daughter) to flog them. McCarthy is fun and there are some very amusing, comically over-the-top situations, but this comedy sags in places and is unnecessarily foul-mouthed. 2015, 15, 99MIN

Sport week

Your ultimate guide to the best of the week's live action

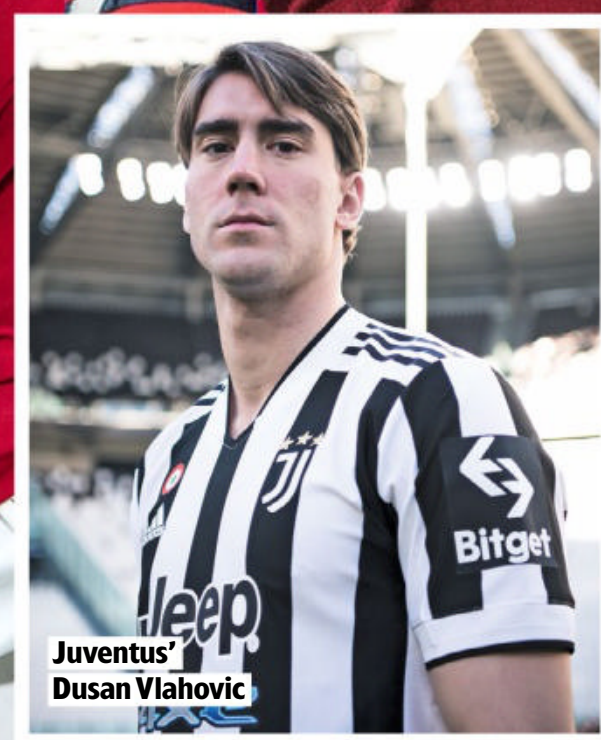
Champions League

It's the turn of Chelsea and Manchester United to battle for a place in the quarter-finals

LIVE FOOTBALL

Tuesday & Wednesday, BT Sport 2 HD & BT Sport 3 HD, kick-offs 8pm

European champions Chelsea and Manchester United play the first legs of their round-of-16 ties this week, while previous winners Juventus, Ajax and Benfica are also in action. Here's our guide to the games…



Juventus' Dusan Vlahovic

Chelsea v Lille

Tuesday, BT Sport 2 HD, kick-off 8pm

Lille secured top spot in their group, but have struggled domestically, and Chelsea will want to take a big first-leg advantage into the return fixture. The French outfit's biggest goal threat is Canadian Jonathan David, who has been linked with some of Europe's top clubs. Chelsea and Lille met in the group stage of the 2019-2020 Champions League, when the Blues won both games 2-1 with César Azpilicueta among the goals.

Villarreal v Juventus

Tuesday, BT Sport 3 HD, kick-off 8pm

It's the first Champions League meeting between the clubs, and it could be a close encounter. Villarreal are managed by ex-Arsenal boss Unai Emery, who led Sevilla to three successive Europa League titles, and finished second behind Manchester United in Group F. The Italian giants topped Group H ahead of Chelsea, and recently boosted their squad with the signing of Serbian striker Dusan Vlahovic for £66m from Fiorentina.

Atlético Madrid v Manchester United

Wednesday, BT Sport 2 HD, kick-off 8pm

Ralf Rangnick's men comfortably progressed from Group F, with Cristiano Ronaldo scoring six and Bruno Fernandes topping the assists charts with six. Atlético Madrid finished second in Group B behind Liverpool, as on-loan French international Antoine Griezmann netted four times. The Spanish side's goal threat will also come from João Félix and former Liverpool striker Luis Suárez.

Benfica v Ajax

Wednesday, BT Sport 3 HD, kick-off 8pm

Both teams are steeped in European Cup heritage, with six wins between them. Ajax's Ivory Coast forward Sébastien Haller was top scorer in the group stage with 10 goals as the Amsterdam club advanced to the knockout phase when Erik ten Hag's team became the first Dutch club to win all of their group matches. Benfica were runners-up in Group E, 10 points behind table-toppers Bayern Munich, but ahead of Barcelona in third.

Sat, Sky Sports Box Office HD

Manchester's AO Arena stages a huge all-British bout on Saturday when the bitter rivals finally face each other after years of failed negotiations. Both fighters are ex-world champions, with Brook holding the IBF welterweight belt between 2014 and 2017, and Khan claiming the WBA light-welterweight belt in 2009, and holding the IBF title in 2011. 'This isn't just hype, we don't like each other,' says Brook. 'There's going to be fireworks between us as soon as that bell rings.'

Anatomy of a Scandal

Rupert Friend, Sienna Miller and Michelle Dockery star in a taut thriller

Check out these enticing shots from Netflix's upcoming drama Anatomy of a Scandal.

Based on Sarah Vaughan's acclaimed 2018 novel, the six-part series airs from Friday 15 April and sees Sienna Miller play mother-of-two Sophie, the wife of ambitious, high-flying MP and government minister James Whitehouse (Rupert Friend).

But murky secrets threaten to rip apart their apparently happy family and rock the whole of Westminster when James is accused of sexually assaulting political aide Olivia (Naomi Scott).

As events come to court, talented barrister Kate Woodcroft QC, played by Michelle Dockery, who specialises in prosecuting sexual crimes, is determined to bring down James as she takes on the high-profile case.

'I was a huge fan of the book and of my character Sophie. She is multifaceted and facing the consequences of the decisions she has made in her life of privilege that are catching up with her,' says Miller. 'I loved the journey she embarks on.'

Michelle Dockery plays Kate

POWER AND PRIVILEGE

The series, which is directed by SJ Clarkson, is set to be the first in an anthology of dramas about shocking events in the upper echelons of society.

'Based on Sarah's addictive book, the show tackles entitlement, truth and the boundaries of consent,' say co-creators David E Kelley and Melissa James Gibson. 'It's been a joy to see SJ bring it to such a rich and nuanced life.'

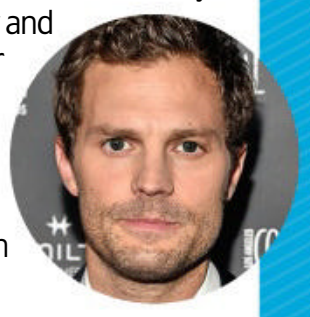
WHAT'S NEXT FOR...

Connie Britton

Apple TV+'s adaptation of Ann Napolitano's novel Dear Edward will see the actor play a woman whose partner dies in a plane crash, which leaves a 12-year-old boy, Edward (Colin O'Brien), as the only survivor.

Jamie Dornan

In Netflix's action-packed spy thriller Heart of Stone, the actor, recently seen in The Tourist and Belfast, will appear alongside Gal Gadot in a twisty, high-octane tale of espionage, which is set to stretch across the globe.



Victoria Smurfit

The actor is joining the cast of the second series of BBC1 crime drama Bloodlands as a widow who comes into contact with DCI Tom Brannick (James Nesbitt) when he investigates her husband's murder.

Coming Back

The Great Celebrity Bake Off for Stand Up to Cancer returns to C4 with contestants including Ben Miller, Sir Mo Farah and Katherine Kelly. Co-host Matt Lucas also bakes. 'I'm happy my humiliation was caught on camera,' jokes Lucas.
